Trial Fee Policy

On the first visit all participants must pay $15 in cash for the lesson before the class. At the conclusion of the class this trial fee can be refunded if the term fee or monthly fee is paid on the same day. This is not applicable if it is the last week of term.

A trial fee is required for every person doing any class.

If participants need more time to think about it – or don't pay term or monthly fees on the day of the trial, then this fee will not be refunded.

A trial fee does not secure the participant a spot in the class, and trial fees cannot be paid over an extended period of time.

In extenuating circumstances, the only time that a trial fee can occur more than once is if the person is undecided on the class that they would like to attend, and is trialling different classes.

If a person has paid for the term in one class and would then like to trial another class in that same term – this is fine but the trial fee will still apply for the trial of another class.
